Victim Mapping Questionnaire

Kodoom

Kodoom Mapping - مسح كودوم

Introductory Text

Independently from participation in ICC proceedings, victims can seek reparation for the harm that they have suffered.

At the end of a trial, if there is a conviction, the Trial Chamber may order a convicted person to pay reparations to the victims of the crimes of which the person was found guilty

- in order for the potential reparations to proceed as expeditiously as possible following a conviction, all potential beneficiaries of reparations arising out of a case should ideally be identified, or their approximate total number should be at least estimated, by the time a Chamber renders its judgment on the innocence or guilt of the accused person.

- In case Mr Ali Muhammad Abd-Al-Rahman is found guilty by the Judges, only direct and indirect victims of the crimes for which he would have been convicted may qualify to be considered potential beneficiaries

The present form serves to:

- Identify individuals or groups of individuals who suffered harm as a result of a crime for which Mr Ali Muhammad Abd-Al-Rahman is currently at trial before the ICC, who may want to be considered as beneficiaries of potential future reparations, should there be any ordered by the ICC Judges at the end of the trial, and/or

- Map, or at least locate the relevant potential beneficiaries

As emphasised by the Judges in this case:

- The estimation of potential beneficiaries of reparations is necessarily provisional and cannot give rise to any rights or expectations on the part of the individuals concerned

- The accused, Mr Ali Muhammad Abd-Al-Rahman, benefits from the presumption of innocence until proven guilty beyond reasonable doubt. He can only be found liable for reparations to victims if he is convicted.

The source of information provided in this form confirms that he/she has been informed of the above, and gives consent for the information he/she provides to be shared with the entities in charge of the reparations proceedings before the ICC, the mapping of potential beneficiaries, and the design and the implementation of reparations measures, as well as with the entities that would be in charge of the provision of any services made for the benefit of victims in the Abd-Al-Rahman case within the framework of the Rome Statute.

Victim Mapping Questionnaire

Mukjar

Mukjar Mapping - مسح مكجر

Introductory Text

Independently from participation in ICC proceedings, victims can seek reparation for the harm that they have suffered.

At the end of a trial, if there is a conviction, the Trial Chamber may order a convicted person to pay reparations to the victims of the crimes of which the person was found guilty

- in order for the potential reparations to proceed as expeditiously as possible following a conviction, all potential beneficiaries of reparations arising out of a case should ideally be identified, or their approximate total number should be at least estimated, by the time a Chamber renders its judgment on the innocence or guilt of the accused person.
- In case Mr Ali Muhammad Abd-Al-Rahman is found guilty by the Judges, only direct and indirect victims of the crimes for which he would have been convicted may qualify to be considered potential beneficiaries

The present form serves to:

- Identify individuals or groups of individuals who suffered harm as a result of a crime for which Mr Ali Muhammad Abd-Al-Rahman is currently at trial before the ICC, who may want to be considered as beneficiaries of potential future reparations, should there be any ordered by the ICC Judges at the end of the trial, and/or
- Map, or at least locate the relevant potential beneficiaries

As emphasised by the Judges in this case:

- The estimation of potential beneficiaries of reparations is necessarily provisional and cannot give rise to any rights or expectations on the part of the individuals concerned
- The accused, Mr Ali Muhammad Abd-Al-Rahman, benefits from the presumption of innocence until proven guilty beyond reasonable doubt. He can only be found liable for reparations to victims if he is convicted.

The source of information provided in this form confirms that he/she has been informed of the above, and gives consent for the information he/she provides to be shared with the entities in charge of the reparations proceedings before the ICC, the mapping of potential beneficiaries, and the design and the implementation of reparations measures, as well as with the entities that would be in charge of the provision of any services made for the benefit of victims in the Abd-Al-Rahman case within the framework of the Rome Statute.
