Mass Burial - Tripoli, Libya FEB 22

Tuesday, FEB 22: Our contacts inside Libya shared a saddening story with us and were brave enough to send us these shocking images. The video and images below were shot in the aftermath of Gadaffi's death squads. We have been told many residents of Tripoli fear to even collect the corpses in the street, as Libyan Forces are reportedly firing at random.

Exact location:

Ashaat Cemetery - Tripoli - Libya
32 54' 30" N 13 14' 46" E

A telling image as to the sentiment in Tripoli:

About One Day on Earth:

One Day on Earth is an online community dedicated to collaborative global media projects. We are a community of filmmakers, students, teachers, aid workers, and inspired citizens. Our flagship collaboration took place on October 10th, 2010 (10/10/10) where we filmed in EVERY country in the world in one day.

Our incredibly diverse network of members has given us unprecedented opportunity to gain perspective on issues that face our world, including political uprisings, such as what we see in the pictures above. As a project of a non-profit foundation, we can use every bit of your help to keep our community going. Please consider a tax deductible donation by following this link:

And, please sign-up and be part of future global conversations.

Also, feel free to check out our 10/10/10 archive, which will be used to create a feature film on our global identity:
