Abobo Market 17 March 2011
a/20212/12 Annex 7	A copy of a national identity card is provided for the applicant. A copy of a death certificate is provided for the applicant's sibling.	Yes Victim is acting on own behalf	Persecution Banco, Abobo : 17 March 2011 Adjame : 18 December 2010 Murder Banco, Abobo : 17 March 2011 Other inhumane acts Adjame : 18 December 2010	Psychological (death of sibling) Physical (injury)	The Gbagbo Defence submits that the applicant filled in two application forms, which casts doubts as to its truthfulness, as it appears that the applicant filled in the form twice in order to participate 'at all costs'. It argues that the applications refer to events that allegedly took place outside the temporal and geographical scope of the charges. It also contends that the application form is incomplete, as it does not have a medical certificate or any other document proving the harm suffered. There is a death certificate (for a sibling) that contradicts the information provided in the application form. In general, it argues that the application form does not provide detailed information and does not give any reasons as to the applicant's conclusion of who is responsible for the alleged crimes. The Blé Goudé Defence similarly submits that the applicant appears to have filled in two different applications relating to two different incidents. It further submits that the identity of the applicant has not been proven, the applicant does not have standing to apply on behalf of a deceased sibling, the description of the perpetrators is unclear and insufficient, the harm is not sufficiently described, the information provided is vague and that there is no causal link between the alleged harm and one of the crimes confirmed.	The documents provided sufficiently demonstrate the identity of the applicant and the kinship between the applicant and the deceased sibling. However, the Chamber notes that the death certificate of the sibling is dated 12 March 2011, while the events in Abobo Market allegedly took place on 17 March 2011. Notwithstanding, the Chamber does not consider that this certificate in itself shows that the event is outside the scope of the charges, as it could understandably also be a mistake in the document. Moreover, even if the death of the sibling was outside the scope of the charges, the applicant also alleges to be a victim of the events of 17 March 2012, namely that the applicant was beaten by police as a youth political activist. Moreover, as regards the second application, the Chamber notes that the events referred to by the applicant fall within the scope of the charges, namely the RTI march that allegedly took place between 16 and 18 December 2010. Accordingly, the Chamber is satisfied prima facie, that the applicant at least suffered harm as a result of being beaten by the police in the events surrounding the attack to the Abobo Market on 17 March 2011 and the RTI demonstration in December 2010. As regards the death of the sibling, the Registry is directed to liaise with the applicant in order to confirm the date of death, and if available, provide any further information in this regard. As to The Blé Goudé Defence's claim that the applicant cannot apply on behalf of a deceased person, this Chamber takes the view that an application concerning a deceased relative can be admitted as long as the applicant can prove a personal harm arising from the death of such relative, thereby qualifying as an indirect victim.
a/25062/15 Annex 70	A copy of a national identity card is provided.	Yes Victim is acting on own behalf	Persecution Siaka Koné, Abobo : 17 March 2011 Other inhumane acts Siaka Koné, Abobo : 17 March 2011	Psychological (trauma) Physical (injury)	The Gbagbo Defence submits that the application form is incomplete as it does not provide a medical certificate or any other document proving the harm suffered. It contends that the application form does not provide detailed information as to the crime or reasons as to the applicant's conclusion of who is responsible for the alleged crimes. It is therefore unable to verify the credibility of the victim, the veracity of the applicant's story or the causal link between the alleged crime and the prejudice. The Blé Goudé Defence similarly submits that there is no medical certificate or any other document proving the harm suffered, that the perpetrators are not sufficiently described and that the information provided is vague. It further submits that the harm is insufficiently described and that the applicant does not link the attack the applicant suffered to Charles Blé Goudé or to any person related to him.	The document provided sufficiently demonstrates the identity of the applicant (identity card). The personal harm is sufficiently and coherently described, according to the prima facie standard (the applicant reports having suffered physical injuries and subsequent trauma). As to the causal link, the reported incidents were linked to the attack on Abobo Market on 17 March 2011, which is within the charges confirmed against both Mr Gbagbo and Mr Blé Goudé. Thus, there is sufficient information to be satisfied, prima facie, that the applicant suffered harm as a result of the crimes included in the charges brought against the accused persons.
a/25063/15 Annex 71	A copy of a birth certificate is provided.	Yes Victim is acting on own behalf	Persecution The Market, Abobo : 17 March 2011 Other inhumane acts The Market, Abobo : 17 March 2011	Physical (injury)	The Gbagbo Defence submits that the application form is incomplete as the identity document was issued in 2008 and is too old and there is no medical certificate or any other document proving the harm suffered. It argues that the application form does not provide detailed information and does not give any reasons as to the applicant's conclusion of who is responsible for the alleged crimes. It is therefore unable to verify the credibility of the victim, the veracity of the applicant's story or the causal link between the alleged crime and the prejudice. The Blé Goudé Defence similarly submits that there is no medical certificate or any other document proving the harm suffered and that the perpetrators are not sufficiently described. It further submits that the harm is insufficiently described and that the applicant does not link the attack the applicant suffered to Laurent Gbagbo, Charles Blé Goudé or to any person related to the latter.	The document provided sufficiently demonstrates the identity of the applicant (a copy of a birth certificate). The personal harm is sufficiently and coherently described, according to the prima facie standard (the applicant reports having suffered physical injuries). As to the causal link, the reported incidents were linked to the attack to the Abobo Market on 17 March 2011, which is within the charges confirmed against both Mr Gbagbo and Mr Blé Goudé. Thus, there is sufficient information to be satisfied, prima facie, that the applicant suffered harm as a result of the crimes included in the charges brought against the accused persons.

a/25064/15 Annex 72	A copy of a national identity card is provided.	Yes Victim is acting on own behalf	Persecution Abobo : 17 March 2011 Other inhumane acts Abobo : 17 March 2011	Physical (injury) Material (inability to take care of own children)	The Gbagbo Defence submits that the application form is incomplete as there is no medical certificate or any other document proving the harm suffered. It argues that the application form does not provide detailed information as to the prejudice suffered and does not give any reasons for the applicant's conclusion of who is responsible for the alleged crimes. It is therefore unable to verify the credibility of the victim, the veracity of the applicant's story or the causal link between the alleged crime and the prejudice. The Blé Goudé Defence similarly submits that there is no medical certificate or any other document proving the harm suffered, such harm is not sufficiently described, the description of the perpetrators is unclear and insufficient, and the information provided is vague. It additionally submits that the application seems rehearsed as it looks like other applications and that the applicant does not link the attack to Laurent Gbagbo, Charles Blé Goudé or to any person related to the latter.	The document provided sufficiently demonstrates the identity of the applicant (identity card). The personal harm is sufficiently and coherently described, according to the prima facie standard (the applicant reports having suffered physical injuries and subsequently cannot take care of his own children). As to the causal link, the reported incidents were linked to the attack on Adobo Market on 17 March 2011, which is within the charges confirmed against both Mr Gbagbo and Mr Blé Goudé. Thus, there is sufficient information to be satisfied, prima facie, that the applicant suffered harm as a result of the crimes included in the charges brought against the accused persons.
a/25065/15 Annex 75	A copy of a national identity card is provided.	Yes Victim is acting on own behalf	Persecution Abobo : 17 March 2011 Other inhumane acts Abobo : 17 March 2011	Physical (injury) Psychological (suffering)	The Gbagbo Defence submits that the application form is incomplete as there is no medical certificate or any other document proving the harm suffered. It argues that the application form does not provide detailed information as to the prejudice suffered and does not give any reasons as to the applicant's conclusion of who is responsible for the alleged crimes. It is therefore unable to verify the credibility of the victim, the veracity of the applicant's story or the causal link between the alleged crime and the prejudice. The Blé Goudé Defence similarly submits that there is no medical certificate or any other document proving the harm suffered, such harm is not sufficiently described and the description of the perpetrators is unclear and insufficient. It further contends that the application does not appear to be authentic and 'seems to be rehearsed as it looks like previous applications'. It also submits that the applicant does not link the attack to Laurent Gbagbo, Charles Blé Goudé or to any person related to the latter.	The document provided sufficiently demonstrates the identity of the applicant (identity card). The personal harm is sufficiently and coherently described, according to the prima facie standard (the applicant reports having suffered physical injuries and subsequent psychological suffering). As to the causal link, the reported incidents were linked to the attack to the Adobo Market on 17 March 2011, which is within the charges confirmed against both Mr Gbagbo and Mr Blé Goudé. Thus, there is sufficient information to be satisfied, prima facie, that the applicant suffered harm as a result of the crimes included in the charges brought against the accused persons.
a/25070/15 Annex 78	A certificate of identity is provided.	Yes Victim is acting on own behalf	Persecution Sika Koné, Abobo : 17 March 2011 Other inhumane acts Sika Koné, Abobo : 17 March 2011	Physical (injury)	The Gbagbo Defence submits that the application form is incomplete as there is no medical certificate or any other document proving the harm suffered. It argues that the application form does not provide detailed information and does not give any reasons as to the applicant's conclusion of who is responsible for the alleged crimes. The Blé Goudé Defence similarly submits that the description of the perpetrators is unclear and insufficient, there is no medical certificate or any other document proving the harm suffered and the crime description lacks details and is unclear. It further submits that the harm suffered is not sufficiently described and that the applicant does not link the attack the applicant suffered to Charles Blé Goudé or to any person related to him.	The document provided sufficiently demonstrates the identity of the applicant (certificate of identity). The personal harm is sufficiently and coherently described, according to the prima facie standard (the applicant reports having suffered physical injuries). As to the causal link, the reported incidents were linked to the attack to the Adobo Market on 17 March 2011, which is within the charges confirmed against both Mr Gbagbo and Mr Blé Goudé. Thus, there is sufficient information to be satisfied, prima facie, that the applicant suffered harm as a result of the crimes included in the charges brought against the accused persons.
a/25074/15 Annex 82	A certificate of identity is provided.	Yes Victim is acting on own behalf	Persecution Abobo : 17 March 2011 Other inhumane acts Abobo : 17 March 2011	Psychological (trauma) Physical (injury)	The Gbagbo Defence submits that the application form is incomplete as there is no medical certificate or any other document proving the harm suffered. It argues that the application form does not provide detailed information as to the prejudice suffered, does not give any reasons as to the applicant's conclusion of who is responsible for the alleged crimes and portrays a similar story to that of a/25075/15. Without detailed information, it is unable to verify the credibility of the victim, the veracity of the applicant's story or the causal link between the alleged crime and the prejudice. The Blé Goudé Defence similarly submits that the description of the perpetrators is unclear and insufficient, there is no medical certificate or any other document proving the harm suffered, such harm is not sufficiently described. It further submits that the applicant does not link the attack the applicant suffered to Laurent Gbagbo, Charles Blé Goudé or to any person related to the latter.	The document provided sufficiently demonstrates the identity of the applicant (certificate of identity). a/25075/15 Annex 83	A copy of a national identity card is provided.	Yes Victim is acting on own behalf	Persecution Abobo Market : 17 March 2011 Other inhumane acts Abobo Market : 17 March 2011	Psychological (trauma) Physical (injury)	The Gbagbo Defence submits that the application form is incomplete as there is no medical certificate or any other document proving the harm suffered. It argues that the application form does not provide detailed information, does not give any reasons as to the applicant's conclusion of who is responsible for the alleged crimes and portrays a similar story to that of a/25074/15. Without detailed information, it is unable to verify the credibility of the victim, the veracity of the applicant's story or the causal link between the alleged crime and the prejudice. The Blé Goudé Defence similarly submits that there is no medical certificate or any other document proving the harm suffered and that there is insufficient detail as to the perpetrators of the alleged crimes. It further submits that the applicant does not link the attack the applicant suffered to Laurent Gbagbo, Charles Blé Goudé or to any person related to the latter.	The document provided sufficiently demonstrates the identity of the applicant (identity card). The personal harm is sufficiently and coherently described, according to the prima facie standard (the applicant reports having suffered physical injuries and subsequent trauma). As to the causal link, the reported incidents were linked to the attack to the Adobo Market on 17 March 2011, which is within the charges confirmed against both Mr Gbagbo and Mr Blé Goudé. Thus, there is sufficient information to be satisfied, prima facie, that the applicant suffered harm as a result of the crimes included in the charges brought against the accused persons.
a/25196/15 Annex 200	A copy of a passport is provided.	Yes Victim is acting on own behalf	Persecution Abobo : 17 March 2011 Other inhumane acts Abobo : 17 March 2011	Physical (injury) Material (medical expenses)	The Gbagbo Defence submits that the application form is incomplete as there is no medical certificate or any other document proving the harm suffered. It also contends that the application form does not provide detailed information and does not give any reasons as to the applicant's conclusion of who is responsible for the alleged crimes. It is therefore unable to verify the credibility of the victim, the veracity of the applicant's story or the causal link between the alleged crime and the prejudice. The Blé Goudé Defence similarly submits that there is no medical certificate or any other document proving the harm suffered and that the description of the perpetrators is unclear and insufficient. It additionally submits that the harm allegedly suffered is insufficiently described, that the information on the alleged crimes is vague.	The document provided sufficiently demonstrates the identity of the applicant (identity card). The personal harm is sufficiently and coherently described, according to the prima facie standard (the applicant reports having suffered physical injuries and having incurred medical expenses). As to the causal link, the reported incidents were linked to the attack to the Adobo Market on 17 March 2011, which is within the charges confirmed against both Mr Gbagbo and Mr Blé Goudé. Thus, there is sufficient information to be satisfied, prima facie, that the applicant suffered harm as a result of the crimes included in the charges brought against the accused persons.
a/25242/15 Annex 245	A copy of a national identity card is provided for the applicant. A copy of a national identity card is provided for the deceased partner.	Yes Victim is acting on own behalf	Persecution Sika Koné, Abobo : 17 March 2011 Murder Sika Koné, Abobo : 17 March 2011	Psychological (death of partner and parent of the applicant's child) Material (left to look after child alone)	The Gbagbo Defence contends that the application form is incomplete as the victim's identity document had expired at the time of his/her death. Further, it contends that the application form does not provide detailed information and that the applicant does not give any reasons as to his/her conclusion of who is responsible for the alleged crimes. Thus, the Defence is unable to verify the credibility of the victim, the veracity of the applicant's story or the causal link between the alleged crime and the prejudice. The Gbagbo Defence finally alleges that the application form is hearsay. The Blé Goudé Defence similarly submits that one of the identity documents attached to the application has expired and that the description of the perpetrators is unclear and insufficient. It further submits that harm allegedly suffered is not sufficiently described and that it is not clearly established whether the applicant was a direct witness of the crime.	The document provided sufficiently demonstrates the identity of the applicant (identity card), as well as the applicant's kinship with the deceased partner and their child (identity card, birth certificate, death certificate and certificate of non-contagious disease). The Chamber also notes that a death certificate further corroborates the applicant's allegation that his/her partner was killed in the events that allegedly took place on 17 March 2011 at Abobo. Although the Chamber notes that the date marked in the application form is '17 March 2015', it is evident that this is a typographical error that needs no further explanation, in light of all other documentation that supports the allegation that these events took place on 17 March 2011. The personal harm is sufficiently and coherently described, according to the prima facie standard (the applicant reports having suffered psychological and financial harm as a result of the death of his/her deceased spouse). As to the causal link, the reported incidents were linked to the attack to the Adobo Market on 17 March 2011, which is within the charges confirmed against both Mr Gbagbo and Mr Blé Goudé. Thus, there is sufficient information to be satisfied, prima facie, that the applicant suffered harm as a result of the crimes included in the charges brought against the accused persons.
a/25246/15 Annex 249	A copy of a consular identity card is provided.	Yes Victim is acting on own behalf	Persecution Sika Koné, Abobo : 17 March 2011 Other inhumane acts Sika Koné, Abobo : 17 March 2011	Physical (injury, disability)	The Gbagbo Defence contends that the application form is incomplete as the applicant's date of birth is not mentioned in the form and it is therefore impossible to check whether it corresponds to the date on the identity document. It also contends that there is no medical certificate or any other document proving the harm suffered. Further, it argues that the application form does not provide detailed information on the prejudice suffered and that the applicant does not give any reasons for their conclusion as to who is responsible for the alleged crimes. It is therefore unable to verify the credibility of the victim, the veracity of the applicant's story or the causal link between the alleged crime and the prejudice. The Blé Goudé Defence similarly submits that there is no medical certificate or any other document proving the harm suffered, such harm is not sufficiently described, the description of the perpetrators is unclear and insufficient and the information on the alleged crimes is vague and brief.	The document provided sufficiently demonstrates the identity of the applicant (consular identity card). The personal harm is sufficiently and coherently described, according to the prima facie standard (the applicant reports having suffered physical injuries and subsequently acquiring a disability). As to the causal link, the reported incidents were linked to the attack to the Adobo Market on 17 March 2011, which is within the charges confirmed against both Mr Gbagbo and Mr Blé Goudé. Thus, there is sufficient information to be satisfied, prima facie, that the applicant suffered harm as a result of the crimes included in the charges brought against the accused persons.

a/25248/15 Annex 251	A copy of a national identity card is provided. A copy of a national identity card of the applicant's spouse is provided.	Yes Victim is acting on own behalf	Persecution Siaka Koné, Abobo : 17 March 11 Murder Siaka Koné, Abobo : 17 March 11	Psychological (death of spouse)	The Gbagbo Defence contends that the application form is incomplete as there is no death certificate for the direct victim. It also contends that the applicant's date of birth is not mentioned in the form, the prejudice is not sufficiently detailed and it is impossible to verify the link between the prejudice and the alleged crime. Finally, it submits that the applicant does not give any reasons for their conclusion as to who is responsible for the alleged crimes. It is therefore unable to verify the credibility of the victim, the veracity of the applicant's story or the causal link between the alleged crime and the prejudice. The Blé Goudé Defence similarly submits that the application does not contain any death certificate for the direct victim or any medical certificate proving the harm suffered, such harm is not sufficiently described and the description of the perpetrators is unclear and insufficient. It additionally submits that the application form does not clearly indicate whether the applicant was a direct witness of the alleged crime and that the information provided on such crime is vague.	The document provided sufficiently demonstrates the identity of the applicant (identity card) as well as the applicant's kinship with the deceased spouse and their child (birth certificate). The personal harm is sufficiently and coherently described, according to the prima facie standard (the applicant reports having suffered psychological harm as a result of the death of spouse). As to the causal link, the reported incidents were linked to the attack to the Adobo Market on 17 March 2011, which is within the charges confirmed against both Mr Gbagbo and Mr Blé Goudé. Thus, there is sufficient information to be satisfied, prima facie, that the applicant suffered harm as a result of the crimes included in the charges brought against the accused persons.

Women's March Abobo 3 March 2011 a/25014/15 Annex 22	A copy of a national identity card is provided.	Yes Victim is acting on own behalf	Persecution Banco : 3 March 2011 Other inhumane acts Banco : 3 March 2011	Physical (injury) Psychological (trauma)	The Gbagbo Defence submits that the application form is incomplete as there is no medical certificate or any other document proving the harm suffered. It contends that the application form does not provide sufficiently detailed information as to the description of events, which prevents the Defence from verifying the credibility of the victim, the veracity of the applicant's story or the causal link between the alleged crime and the prejudice. It also submits that the application does not provide detailed information as to the reasons of the applicant's conclusion of who is responsible for the alleged crimes. The Blé Goudé Defence similarly submits that there is no medical certificate or any other document proving the harm suffered, which renders it impossible to establish a link between the alleged injuries suffered and the alleged crime. It further submits that the harm allegedly suffered is not sufficiently described.	The document provided sufficiently demonstrates the identity of the applicant (identity card). The Chamber notes that the harm alleged by the applicant may not appear to be of such a serious nature when compared to other applicants. Also, as suggested by the Blé Goudé Defence it may not be possible to determine with certainty if the alleged harm was directly or indirectly caused by the charges brought against the accused. Nonetheless, in light of the prima facie standard and for the purposes of this decision, the personal harm is sufficiently and coherently described (the applicant reported having suffered bodily harm and subsequent trauma). As to the causal link, the reported incidents were linked to the alleged attack to the Women's March in Banco on 3 March 2011, which is within the charges confirmed against both Mr Gbagbo and Mr Blé Goudé. Thus, there is sufficient information to be satisfied, prima facie, that the applicant suffered harm as a result of the crimes included in the charges brought against the accused persons.

It also argues that the application form does not contain detailed information on reasons behind the applicant's conclusion of who is responsible for the alleged crimes. The Blé Goudé Defence similarly submits that there is no medical certificate or any other document proving the harm suffered (which renders it impossible to establish the link between the harm and the alleged crimes) and that the description of the perpetrators is unclear and insufficient. Yes Victim is acting on own behalf	Persecution Banco : 3 March 2011 Other inhumane acts Banco : 3 March 2011	Physical (injury) Psychological (trauma)	The Gbagbo Defence submits that the application form is incomplete as there is no medical certificate or any other document proving the harm suffered. It contends that the application form does not provide detailed information as to the description of events, which prevents the Defence from verifying the credibility of the victim, the veracity of the applicant's story or the causal link between the alleged crime and the prejudice. There are also no reasons as to the applicant's conclusion of who is responsible for the alleged crimes. Moreover, the description of the events seems stereotyped. The Blé Goudé Defence similarly submits that additionally submits that there is no medical certificate or any other document proving the harm suffered (which renders it impossible to establish the link between the harm and the alleged crimes). It further submits that the harm is not sufficiently described, specifically with regards to the duration of its consequences, and that the description of the perpetrators is unclear and insufficient.	The document provided sufficiently demonstrates the identity of the applicant (identity card). The Chamber notes that the harm alleged by the applicant may not appear to be of such a serious nature when compared to other applicants. Also, as suggested by the Blé Goudé Defence it may not be possible to determine with certainty if the alleged harm was directly or indirectly caused by the charges brought against the accused. a/25019/15 Annex 27	A certificate of identity is provided.	Yes Victim is acting on own behalf	Persecution Banco : 3 March 2011 Other inhumane acts Banco : 3 March 2011	Physical (injury)	The Gbagbo Defence submits that the application form is incomplete as the applicant was allegedly born in 1995 and would therefore still be a child under Ivorian law. It also contends that the application form is incomplete as it does not provide a medical certificate or any other document proving the harm suffered. Further, the Gbagbo Defence argues that the application form does not provide detailed information as to the description of events, which prevents the Defence from verifying the credibility of the victim, the veracity of the applicant's story or the causal link between the alleged crime and the prejudice. There are also no reasons as to the applicant's conclusion of who is responsible for the alleged crimes. The Blé Goudé Defence similarly submits that there is no medical certificate or any other document proving the harm suffered (which renders it impossible to establish the link between the harm and the alleged crimes) and that the description of the perpetrators is unclear and insufficient. It further submits that the harm is not sufficiently described and does not directly result from the crimes confirmed, as the applicant only refers to an 'infected toe due to improper treatment'.	The document provided sufficiently demonstrates the identity of the applicant (certificate of identity). The Chamber notes that the harm alleged by the applicant may not appear to be of such a serious nature when compared to other applicants. Also, as suggested by the Blé Goudé Defence it may not be possible to determine with certainty if the alleged harm was directly or indirectly caused by the charges brought against the accused. Yes Victim is acting on own behalf	Persecution Banco : 3 March 2011 Other inhumane acts Banco : 3 March 2011	Physical (injury) Psychological (trauma)	The Gbagbo Defence submits that the application form is incomplete as there is no medical certificate or any other document proving the harm suffered. It contends that the application form does not provide detailed information as to the description of events, which prevents the Defence from verifying the credibility of the victim, the veracity of the applicant's story or the causal link between the alleged crime and the prejudice. There are also no reasons as to the applicant's conclusion of who is responsible for the alleged crimes. The Blé Goudé Defence similarly submits that there is no medical certificate or any other document proving the harm suffered (which renders it impossible to establish the link between the harm and the alleged crimes) and that the description of the perpetrators is unclear and insufficient. It additionally submits that the description of the harm is not sufficiently detailed.	The document provided sufficiently demonstrates the identity of the applicant (identity card). The Chamber notes that the harm alleged by the applicant may not appear to be of such a serious nature when compared to other applicants. Also, as suggested by the Blé Goudé Defence it may not be possible to determine with certainty if the alleged harm was directly or indirectly caused by the charges brought against the accused. Nonetheless, in light of the prima facie standard and for the purposes of this decision, the personal harm is sufficiently and coherently described (the applicant reported having suffered bodily harm and subsequent trauma). As to the causal link, the reported incidents were linked to the alleged attack to the Women's March in Banco on 3 March 2011, which is within the charges confirmed against both Mr Gbagbo and Mr Blé Goudé. Thus, there is sufficient information to be satisfied, prima facie, that the applicant suffered harm as a result of the crimes included in the charges brought against the accused persons.

As to the causal link, the reported incidents were linked to the alleged attack to the Women's March in Banco on 3 March 2011, which is within the charges confirmed against both Mr Gbagbo and Mr Blé Goudé. The document provided sufficiently demonstrates the identity of the applicant (identity card). The Chamber notes that the harm alleged by the applicant may not appear to be of such a serious nature when compared to other applicants. Also, as suggested by the Blé Goudé Defence it may not be possible to determine with certainty if the alleged harm was directly or indirectly caused by the charges brought against the accused. Nonetheless, in light of the prima facie standard and for the purposes of this decision, the personal harm is sufficiently and coherently described (the applicant reported having suffered bodily harm and subsequent trauma). As to the causal link, the reported incidents were linked to the alleged attack to the Women's March in Banco on 3 March 2011, which is within the charges confirmed against both Mr Gbagbo and Mr Blé Goudé. Thus, there is sufficient information to be satisfied, prima facie, that the applicant suffered harm as a result of the crimes included in the charges brought against the accused persons.

Submits that the application form does not contain detailed information as it does not present reasons as to the applicant's conclusion of who is responsible for the alleged crimes. The Blé Goudé Defence joins the Gbagbo Defence making the same submission regarding the absence of a medical certificate or any other document proving the harm suffered and the applicant's unsubstantiated conclusions as to the persons responsible for the alleged crime. It also contends that part of the alleged harm, 'further eye infection', was not directly caused by the alleged crime, 'but by the lack of financial means of the applicant'.	The document provided sufficiently demonstrates the identity of the applicant (identity certificate). The Chamber notes that the harm alleged by the applicant may not appear to be of such a serious nature when compared to other applicants. Also, as suggested by the Blé Goudé Defence it may not be possible to determine with certainty if the alleged harm was directly or indirectly caused by the charges brought against the accused. Nonetheless, in light of the prima facie standard and for the purposes of this decision, the personal harm is sufficiently and coherently described (the applicant reported having suffered bodily harm). As to the causal link, the reported incidents were linked to the alleged attack to the Women's March in Banco on 3 March 2011, which is within the charges confirmed against both Mr Gbagbo and Mr Blé Goudé. Thus, there is sufficient information to be satisfied, prima facie, that the applicant suffered harm as a result of the crimes included in the charges brought against the accused persons.

Also, as suggested by the Blé Goudé Defence it may not be possible to determine with certainty if the alleged harm was directly or indirectly caused by the charges brought against the accused. Nonetheless, in light of the prima facie standard and for the purposes of this decision, the personal harm is sufficiently and coherently described (the applicant reported having suffered bodily harm). As to the causal link, the reported incidents were linked to the alleged attack to the Women's March in Banco on 3 March 2011, which is within the charges confirmed against both Mr Gbagbo and Mr Blé Goudé. Thus, there is sufficient information to be satisfied, prima facie, that the applicant suffered harm as a result of the crimes included in the charges brought against the accused persons.

Yes Victim is acting on own behalf	Persecution Banco : 03 March 2011 Other inhumane acts Banco : 03 March 2011	Psychological (trauma) Physical (injury)	The Gbagbo Defence submits that the application form is incomplete as the applicant's identity document contains inconsistencies as to the applicant's date of birth as the date mentioned differs from the birth date indicated on the application form. It also submits that the application form is incomplete, as there is no medical certificate or any other document proving the harm suffered. It further contends that the application form does not provide detailed information as the applicant does not precisely identify the persons responsible for the alleged crime. It finally does not permit to link the alleged harm to the crimes confirmed. The Blé Goudé Defence similarly submits that there is no medical certificate or any other document proving the harm suffered and that the description of the perpetrators is unclear, insufficient and unsubstantiated. It further contends that the harm suffered is not sufficiently described and was not directly caused by the alleged crimes.	The document provided sufficiently demonstrates the identity of the applicant (birth certificate). The Chamber notes that the harm alleged by the applicant may not appear to be of such a serious nature when compared to other applicants. Also, as suggested by the Blé Goudé Defence it may not be possible to determine with certainty if the alleged harm was directly or indirectly caused by the charges brought against the accused. Yes Victim is acting on own behalf	Persecution Banco : 3 March 2011 Other inhumane acts Banco : 3 March 2011	Physical (injury) Material (inability to work)	The Gbagbo Defence submits that the application form is incomplete as there is no medical certificate or any other document proving the harm suffered. It further contends that the application form does not provide detailed information as the applicant does not precisely identify the persons responsible for the alleged crime and does not sufficiently describe the crime itself. It is therefore unable to verify the credibility of the victim, the veracity of the applicant's story or the causal link between the alleged crime and the prejudice. The Blé Goudé Defence similarly submits that there is no medical certificate or any other document proving the harm suffered and that the description of the perpetrators is unclear, insufficient and unsubstantiated. It also submits that the application form does not provide detailed information as to the alleged crime as it does not provide reasons as to the applicant's conclusion of who is responsible for the alleged crimes. It is therefore unable to verify the credibility of the victim, the veracity of the applicant's story or the causal link between the alleged crime and the prejudice. The Blé Goudé Defence similarly submits that there is no medical certificate or any other document proving the harm suffered. It also submits that the application form does not provide precise information as to the description of the harm suffered and that it does not provide reasons as to the applicant's conclusion of who is responsible for the alleged crimes. The Blé Goudé Defence similarly submits that there is no medical certificate or any other document proving the harm suffered and that the description of the perpetrators is unclear, insufficient and unsubstantiated. a/25192/15 Annex 197	A copy of a birth certificate is provided. A certificate of the identity of the applicant's sibling is provided.	Yes Victim has person acting on behalf	Persecution Banco : 3 March 2011 Other inhumane acts Banco : 3 March 2011	Physical (injury) Psychological (trauma)	The Gbagbo Defence submits that the application form is incomplete as there is no medical certificate or any other document proving the harm suffered. It further contends that the application form does not provide detailed information as the applicant does not precisely identify the persons responsible for the alleged crime and does not sufficiently describe the crime itself. It then submits that the application form lacks details in the description of the alleged events. It is therefore unable to verify the credibility of the victim, the veracity of the applicant's story or the causal link between the alleged crime and the prejudice. The Blé Goudé Defence joins the Gbagbo Defence in making the same submission regarding the absence of a medical certificate and the applicant's unsubstantiated conclusions as to the persons responsible for the alleged crime. Additionally, it submits that the applicant was not a direct witness of the crime, and that the harm allegedly suffered is not sufficiently detailed.	The documents provided sufficiently demonstrate the identity of the applicant (birth certificate, child) and of the person acting on behalf of the applicant (sibling, identity card). The applicant (the child) was allegedly present in the Women's March, while the sibling (who filled in the form on behalf of the applicant) was not present. The Chamber notes that the harm alleged by the applicant may not appear to be of such a serious nature when compared to other applicants. Also, as suggested by the Blé Goudé Defence it may not be possible to determine with certainty if the alleged harm was directly or indirectly caused by the charges brought against the accused. Nonetheless, in light of the prima facie standard and for the purposes of this decision, the personal harm is sufficiently and coherently described (the applicant reported having suffered bodily harm and subsequent trauma). a/25194/15 Annex 199	A copy of a national identity card is provided.	Yes Victim is acting on own behalf	Persecution Aboobo : 03 March 2011 Other inhumane acts Aboobo : 03 March 2011	Physical (injury) Material (inability to carry out activities/work)	The Gbagbo Defence submits that the application form is incomplete as there is no medical certificate or any other document proving the harm suffered. It also contends that the application form is insufficiently detailed and incoherent as the applicant indicates having been involved 'dans l'encadrement de ces femmes' and having received 'des débris d'obus partout sur le corps' (grenade shrapnel all over its body), whereas the Decision on the Confirmation of Charges does not refer to 'obus' (grenade). No link can therefore be found between the alleged crime and the accusations contained in the Decision on the Confirmation of Charges. The Blé Goudé Defence joins the Gbagbo Defence in making the same submission regarding the absence of a medical certificate and the vagueness on the information provided. It submits, in particular, that there is no detailed information on the alleged crime, on the perpetrators of the crime and on the harm suffered.	The document provided sufficiently demonstrates the identity of the applicant (identity card). The personal harm is sufficiently and coherently described (the applicant reported having suffered bodily harm caused by bombshells). As to the causal link, the reported incidents were linked to the alleged attack to the Women's March in Banco on 3 March 2011, which is within the charges confirmed against both Mr Gbagbo and Mr Blé Goudé. Thus, there is sufficient information to be satisfied, prima facie, that the applicant suffered harm as a result of the crimes included in the charges brought against the accused persons.

a/25247/15 Annex 250	A copy of a national identity card is provided.	Yes Victim is acting on own behalf	Persecution Banco : 3 March 2011 Other inhumane acts Banco : 3 March 2011	Physical (injury, disability) Material (inability to send children to school, medical expenses)	The Gbagbo Defence submits that the application form is incomplete as there is no medical certificate or any other document proving the harm suffered. It further submits that the application form does not provide detailed information since it does not provide reasons as to the applicant's conclusion of who is responsible for the alleged crimes. It further submits that the description of the alleged crime is not sufficiently detailed and it is therefore impossible to verify the link between the alleged crime and the charges confirmed in the Decision on the Confirmation of Charges. The Blé Goudé Defence joins the Gbagbo Defence in making the same submission regarding the absence of a medical certificate, the vagueness of the application form (regarding, in particular, the description of the alleged crime and the nature of medical care received) and the applicant's unsubstantiated conclusions as to the persons responsible for the alleged crime. It also contends that the applicant was not a direct victim of the alleged crimes and that the consequences of the applicant's injuries do not follow the harm reported.	The document provided sufficiently demonstrates the identity of the applicant (identity card). The personal harm is sufficiently and coherently described (the applicant reported having suffered bodily harm and having subsequently acquired a handicap, which does not allow own children to attend school). As to the causal link, the reported incidents were linked to the alleged attack to the Women's March in Banco on 3 March 2011, which is within the charges confirmed against both Mr Gbagbo and Mr Blé Goudé. Thus, there is sufficient information to be satisfied, prima facie, that the applicant suffered harm as a result of the crimes included in the charges brought against the accused persons.

Yes Victim is acting on own behalf	Persecution Banco : 3 March 2011 Other inhumane acts Banco : 3 March 2011	Physical (injury, disability)	The Gbagbo Defence submits that the application form is incomplete as the identity document had expired/was invalid when the application form was filed and there is no medical certificate or any other document proving the harm suffered. It further submits that the application form does not provide detailed information since it does not provide reasons as to the applicant's conclusion of who is responsible for the alleged crimes. It finally contends that the crime is not sufficiently detailed and it is therefore not possible to establish a link between the alleged crime and the charges confirmed. The Blé Goudé Defence joins the Gbagbo Defence making the same submission regarding the expired identity document. It similarly submits that the application form is incomplete as there is no death certificate or any other document proving the harm suffered and since the description of the alleged perpetrators is unsubstantiated. It further argues that the alleged crime, the applicant's injuries, the applicant's present medical condition and the nature and cost of the medical care received are all insufficiently described.	The document provided sufficiently demonstrates the identity of the applicant (certificate of identity). The personal harm is sufficiently and coherently described (the applicant reported having suffered bodily harm, in particular, being shot and consequently acquiring a disability). As to the causal link, the reported incidents were linked to the alleged attack to the Women's March in Banco on 3 March 2011, which is within the charges confirmed against both Mr Gbagbo and Mr Blé Goudé. Thus, there is sufficient information to be satisfied, prima facie, that the applicant suffered harm as a result of the crimes included in the charges brought against the accused persons.

Yes Victim is acting on own behalf	Persecution Rond-point du Banco : 3 March 2011 Other inhumane acts Rond point du Banco : 3 March 2011	Physical (injury)	The Gbagbo Defence submits that the application form is incomplete as it does not have a medical certificate or any other document proving the harm suffered. It also submits that the application form does not provide detailed information as it does not provide reasons as to the applicant's conclusion of who is responsible for the alleged crimes. It is finally submitted that it is impossible for The Gbagbo Defence to verify the link between the alleged crime and the charges confirmed in the Decision on the Confirmation of Charges. The Blé Goudé Defence joins the Gbagbo Defence making the same submission regarding the absence of a medical certificate and the absence of proof as to the identity of the perpetrators of the crime. It further submits that the alleged crimes and the harm suffered are not sufficiently described.	The document provided sufficiently demonstrates the identity of the applicant (consular identity card). The personal harm is sufficiently and coherently described (the applicant reported having suffered bodily harm, in particular, being shot and still experiencing pain). As to the causal link, the reported incidents were linked to the alleged attack to the Women's March in Banco on 3 March 2011, which is within the charges confirmed against both Mr Gbagbo and Mr Blé Goudé. Thus, there is sufficient information to be satisfied, prima facie, that the applicant suffered harm as a result of the crimes included in the charges brought against the accused persons.

RTI Demonstrations 16-19 December 2010
9/10176/14 Annex 1	A copy of a national identity card is provided. A certificate of identity of the applicant's spouse is provided.	Yes Victim is acting on own behalf	Persecution Camp Commando Koumassi : 16 December 2010 Murder Camp Commando Koumassi : 16 December 2010	Psychological (death of spouse) Material (economic consequences, especially relating to the children)	The Gbagbo Defence challenges the applicant's ability to fill in the form in light of his/her spoken language, the lack of an identity document or a death certificate of the direct victim. It also submits that the information provided is hearsay and lacks details on the alleged crimes and perpetrators. It also contends that the harm suffered has no link with the alleged crime (murder of spouse). The Blé Goudé Defence similarly submits that there is no medical certificate or any other document proving the harm suffered (death of spouse), the description of the alleged perpetrators is insufficient, unsubstantiated, generally vague and constitutes hearsay.. It further submits that the harm suffered is not sufficiently described.	Identification and other information of both direct and indirect victims, including on their relationship, are sufficient for prima facie analysis (the application contains: a copy of the applicant's identification card, the identification card of the deceased spouse, as well as birth certificates of children). The personal harm is sufficiently and coherently described (death of spouse and psychological and economic consequences thereof). As to the causal link, the reported incidents were linked to the alleged attack on the RTI Demonstrations on 16-19 December 2010, which is within the charges confirmed against both Mr Gbagbo and Mr Blé Goudé. Thus, there is sufficient information to be satisfied, prima facie, that the applicant suffered harm as a result of the crimes included in the charges brought against the accused persons.
9/10183/14 Annex 2	A copy of a national identity card is provided. A copy of a burial permit and an autopsy request of the applicant's son are provided.	Yes Victim is acting on own behalf	Persecution Depot 9, Abobo Avocatier : 16 December 2010 Murder Depot 9, Abobo Avocatier : 16 December 2010	Psychological (death of child)	The Gbagbo Defence challenges the applicant's ability to fill in the form in light of his/her spoken language, the lack of the identity document of the direct victim or proof of kinship between the latter and the applicant. It also submits that the date of death of the direct victim (child of the applicant) is October 2000, according to a document provided, and is thus outside the scope of the charges. It further contends that the application form lacks details of the alleged crimes or perpetrators and that it appears to contain hearsay information. The Blé Goudé Defence similarly submits that the application does not contain any document proving the identity of the applicant, the identification of the alleged perpetrators, in particular the "mercenaries" and Mr Blé Goudé, is unsubstantiated and the information provided is generally vague. It further argues that the harm suffered is not sufficiently described and that causal link between the alleged incidents (attack on RTI Demonstrations) and the alleged death of the applicant's child is not demonstrated. It additionally argues that there is an inconsistency regarding the date of death of the direct victim, as 'the police report asking the forensic evidence expert to examine the body says that the individual died in 2000'.	The documents provided sufficiently demonstrate the identity of the applicant (identity card) and of the direct victim (copy of a burial permit and an autopsy request). However, the exhumation permit and the 'de par la loi' certificate appear to refer to the death of someone (allegedly the child of the applicant) on the morning of 26 October 2000. Accordingly, there is clear contradiction between the information provided and the attached documentation, which appear to be irrelevant to the charges or alleged events of December 2010. On the basis of that information, the Chamber cannot determine, prima facie, that the applicant suffered harm as a result of the crimes included in the charges against the accused. Accordingly, the Registry and the LRV are directed to liaise with the applicant in order to provide further clarification.

Yes Victim is acting on own behalf	Persecution Trichville : 16 December 2010 Other inhumane acts Trichville : 16 December 2010	Physical (injury from torture) Psychological (trauma from torture)	The Gbagbo Defence submits that the application lacks a medical certificate or any other document proving the harm suffered and lacks detail of the alleged crimes or the perpetrators. The Blé Goudé Defence similarly submits that there is no medical certificate or any other document proving the harm suffered (without which it is impossible to establish the link between the crimes and the harm) and that the description of the alleged perpetrators is insufficient and unsubstantiated.	The document provided sufficiently demonstrates the identity of the applicant (identity card). The personal harm is sufficiently and coherently described (the applicant reported being tortured and suffering an injury while participating in the RTI Demonstrations on 16 December 2010). As to the causal link, the reported incidents were linked to the alleged attack on the RTI Demonstrations on 16-19 December 2010, which is within the charges confirmed against both Mr Gbagbo and Mr Blé Goudé. Thus, there is sufficient information to be satisfied, prima facie, that the applicant suffered harm as a result of the crimes included in the charges brought against the accused persons.

a/25003/15 Annex 9	A copy of a national identity card is provided.	Yes Victim is acting on own behalf	Persecution Cocody : 26 December 2010 Other inhumane acts Cocody : 26 December 2010	Physical (injury) Material (medical expenses)	The Gbagbo Defence argues that the application lacks a medical certificate or any other document proving the harm suffered. It also challenges the description of events, which makes it impossible to determine whether it was the witness's own actions that resulted in the alleged harm. In its view, there is no justification as to the conclusion made by the applicant on the alleged perpetrators. It also submits that the events fall outside the scope of the charges, particularly as they are not serious enough to be considered crimes against humanity. The Blé Goudé Defence similarly submits that there is no medical certificate or any other document proving the harm suffered (without which it is impossible to establish the link between the crimes and the harm) and that the description of the alleged perpetrators is insufficient and unsubstantiated. It further argues that the information provided in the application form is, in general, vague. The Gbagbo Defence challenges that the identity documents provided are inconsistent and that there is no death certificate or any other document proving the harm (death of the direct victim, who is allegedly a sibling of the applicant). It also submits that details on the events are lacking and the information provided is hearsay. The Blé Goudé Defence similarly submits that there is no medical certificate or any other document proving the harm suffered (without which it is impossible to establish the link between the crimes and the harm). It further submits that the description of the alleged perpetrators is insufficient and unsubstantiated.	The document provided sufficiently demonstrates the identity of the applicant (identity card). The personal harm is sufficiently and coherently described (the applicant reported being injured during the events of 16 December 2010, as a result of the participation in the RTI demonstration, and that this has also led to medical expenses). As to the causal link, the reported incidents were linked to the alleged attack on the RTI Demonstrations on 16-19 December 2010, which is within the charges confirmed against both Mr Gbagbo and Mr Blé Goudé. Thus, there is sufficient information to be satisfied, prima facie, that the applicant suffered harm as a result of the crimes included in the charges brought against the accused persons.

The personal harm is sufficiently and coherently described (death of a sibling and psychological and economic consequences thereof). As to the causal link, the reported incidents were linked to the alleged attack on the RTI Demonstrations on 16-19 December 2010, which is within the charges confirmed against both Mr Gbagbo and Mr Blé Goudé. Thus, there is sufficient information to be satisfied, prima facie, that the applicant suffered harm as a result of the crimes included in the charges brought against the accused persons.	The document provided sufficiently demonstrates the identity of the applicant (identity card). The personal harm is sufficiently and coherently described (the applicant reports being tortured because of his/her participation in the RTI Demonstrations on 16 December 2010 and, as a consequence, suffering injuries and having to incur medical expenses). As to the causal link, the reported incidents were linked to the alleged attack on the RTI Demonstrations on 16-19 December 2010, which is within the charges confirmed against both Mr Gbagbo and Mr Blé Goudé. Thus, there is sufficient information to be satisfied, prima facie, that the applicant suffered harm as a result of the crimes included in the charges brought against the accused persons.

It also submits that the events fall outside the scope of the charges and are not serious enough to be considered crimes against humanity. The Blé Goudé Defence similarly submits that there is no medical certificate or any other document proving the harm suffered (without which it is impossible to establish the link between the crimes and the harm) and that the description of the alleged perpetrators is insufficient and unsubstantiated. It also submits that the applicant does not identify the perpetrators and that it is impossible to conclude whether the alleged crimes fall within the scope of the charges confirmed. The Blé Goudé Defence similarly submits that there is no medical certificate or any other document proving the harm suffered (without which it is impossible to establish the link between the crimes and the harm) and that the description of the alleged perpetrators is unclear, vague and unsubstantiated. The document provided sufficiently demonstrates the identity of the applicant (identity card). The Blé Goudé Defence similarly submits that there is no medical certificate or any other document proving the harm suffered (without which it is impossible to establish the link between the crimes and the harm) and that the description of the alleged perpetrators is insufficient and unsubstantiated. It further argues that the harm suffered does not arise as a direct result of the alleged crimes.	The document provided sufficiently demonstrates the identity of the applicant (birth certificate). The personal harm is sufficiently and coherently described (the applicant reports that he/she and his/her spouse were tortured and detained and consequently suffered psychological harm because of their participation in the RTI demonstration on 16 December 2010). As to the causal link, the reported incidents were linked to the alleged attack on the RTI Demonstrations on 16-19 December 2010, which is within the charges confirmed against both Mr Gbagbo and Mr Blé Goudé. It also argues that the perpetrators are not identified. The Blé Goudé Defence similarly submits that there is no medical certificate or any other document proving the harm suffered and that the description of the alleged perpetrators is insufficient, vague and unsubstantiated. It further submits that there is no causal link between the harm suffered and Mr Blé Goudé or any other person related to him and that the harm suffered has not been sufficiently described.	The document provided sufficiently demonstrates the identity of the applicant (identity card). The personal harm is sufficiently and coherently described (the applicant reported being injured and robbed as a result of the participation in the RTI demonstration on 16 December 2010). As to the causal link, the reported incidents were linked to the alleged attack on the RTI Demonstrations on 16-19 December 2010, which is within the charges confirmed against both Mr Gbagbo and Mr Blé Goudé. The Blé Goudé Defence similarly submits that there is no medical certificate or any other document proving the harm suffered, the description of the alleged perpetrators is unsubstantiated and vague and the harm suffered is not sufficiently described. It further submits that the recollection of the alleged crimes lacks detail and is unclear, there is no causal link between the harm suffered and the alleged perpetrators, namely Mr Gbagbo, Mr Blé Goudé or any other person related to the latter and that the application does not appear to be authentic.	The document provided sufficiently demonstrates the identity of the applicant (identity card). The personal harm is sufficiently and coherently described (the applicant reported being injured, mugged and suffering trauma as a result of the participation in the RTI demonstration on 16 December 2010). As to the causal link, the reported incidents were linked to the alleged attack on the RTI Demonstrations on 16-19 December 2010, which is within the charges confirmed against both Mr Gbagbo and Mr Blé Goudé. As regards the challenge raised by The Gbagbo Defence that both this application and application a/25108/05 are very similar, the Chamber notes that the applicant a/25107/15 appears to be illiterate and that applicant a/25108/05, who does appear to read and write, has also assisted the former applicant to fill in the form. It also appears from the description of the events that the two applicants could have been together at the time of the events. Accordingly, there is nothing that undermines the credibility of the present application. Thus, there is sufficient information to be satisfied, prima facie, that the applicant suffered harm as a result of the crimes included in the charges brought against the accused persons.

The document provided sufficiently demonstrates the identity of the applicant (identity card). The personal harm is sufficiently and coherently described (the applicant reported being injured, suffering trauma and incurring medical expenses as a result of the participation in the RTI demonstration on 16 December 2010). As to the causal link, the reported incidents were linked to the alleged attack on the RTI Demonstrations on 16-19 December 2010, which is within the charges confirmed against both Mr Gbagbo and Mr Blé Goudé. Thus, there is sufficient information to be satisfied, prima facie, that the applicant suffered harm as a result of the crimes included in the charges brought against the accused persons.

It also submits that the information on the death of the sibling is hearsay and that there is no justification as regards the conclusion on who are the perpetrators. The Blé Goudé Defence similarly submits that there is no document proving the kinship between the applicant and the direct victim, there is no medical or death certificate or any other document proving the harm suffered and the information contained in one of the applications (a/25137/15) is hearsay. It further submits that there is no causal link between the harm suffered and the crimes confirmed.	The document provided sufficiently demonstrates the identity of the applicant and the dead sibling as well as their kinship (identity card). The personal harm is sufficiently and coherently described (in application a/25137/15, the applicant reported being detained and tortured as a result of the participation in the RTI demonstration on 16 December 2010; moreover, the applicant also reported that he/she was traumatised and that his/her sibling was killed as a result of the same events, leaving the applicant to take care and financially provide for the dead sibling's four children). As to the causal link, the reported incidents were linked to the alleged attack on the RTI Demonstrations on 16-19 December 2010, which is within the charges confirmed against both Mr Gbagbo and Mr Blé Goudé. Thus, there is sufficient information to be satisfied, prima facie, that the applicant suffered harm as a result of the crimes included in the charges brought against the accused persons.

It also argues that the events are outside the temporal scope of the charges. The Blé Goudé Defence similarly submits that there is no medical certificate or any other document proving the harm suffered and that it is not possible to verify whether the alleged attack was self-defence. It further submits that the description of the harm suffered does not appear to be true.	The document provided sufficiently demonstrates the identity of the applicant (identity card). The personal harm is sufficiently and coherently described (the applicant reported being injured and as a result of the participation in the RTI demonstration on 16 December 2010). As to the causal link, the reported incidents were linked to the alleged attack on the RTI Demonstrations on 16-19 December 2010, which is within the charges confirmed against both Mr Gbagbo and Mr Blé Goudé. The applicant does not need to provide any justification as regards the legitimate use of force by the alleged perpetrators. That determination will be made in due course by the Chamber, in establishing the individual criminal responsibility for the alleged events. Thus, there is sufficient information to be satisfied, prima facie, that the applicant suffered harm as a result of the crimes included in the charges brought against the accused persons.

a/25211/15 Annex 215	A copy of a national identity card is provided for the applicant. A copy of a ministerial decree regarding the creation of the organisation is provided.	Yes Victim has person acting on behalf	Persecution Yopougon : 25 - 26 February 2011 (the mosque was destroyed on religious grounds) Other inhumane acts 25 February 2011 : Yopougon Place CP1(Intentionally causing great suffering)	Material (mosque and its religious objects were destroyed)	The Gbagbo Defence submits that there is no proof of the harm to the applicant organisation, the information is vague and too succinct, the report of facts is confusing and not credible and the description of the perpetrators is unclear and insufficient. It further submits that there is no causal link between the events and harm described and the crimes confirmed against Mr. Gbagbo. The Blé Goudé Defence submits that there is no proof of the harm to the applicant organisation and that the perpetrators are not clearly identified. It further submits that the personal harm is not sufficiently described	The document provided sufficiently demonstrates the identity of the applicant (a copy of the national identity card of the President of the applicant organisation – a mosque – is presented, together with the mosque's license to operate). The personal harm is sufficiently and coherently described, according to the prima facie standard (representative of the organisation reports that the mosque was set on fire by pro-Gbagbo militia sent by Blé Goudé during a confrontation between these forces and the inhabitants of the Doukouré neighborhood at Yopougon; it is also reported that, as a result of the fire, part of the mosque itself and its religious objects were destroyed). Moreover, there is no need to prove the harm or to indicate the perpetrator at this stage. Only a brief description of the harm and facts is required. As to the causal link, the Chamber is of the view that the incident described (confrontation in the Doukouré neighborhood at Yopougon and the arson of the mosque) is prima facie within the parameters of the charges confirmed against Mr. Blé Goudé and was considered as part of the context of the charges confirmed against Mr. Gbagbo (see Joinder Decision, para. 54). Since the crime of persecution requires that there is a connection to a crime under the jurisdiction of the court, the Chamber considers that the destruction of a religious building can be categorised under 'other inhumane acts' intentionally causing great suffering, in this case to the members of the community who were allegedly targeted by the crimes of persecution and which have also been described by other applicants and victims already admitted to participate in the proceedings. Thus, there is sufficient information to be satisfied, prima facie, that the applicant suffered harm as a result of the crimes included in the charges brought against the accused persons.

a/25222/15 Annex 225	A copy of a national identity card is provided. A copy of a professional identity card of the applicant's husband is provided.	Yes Victim is acting on own behalf	Persecution Yopougon : 25 February 2011 (ethnicity = Koyaka) Murder Yopougon : 25 February 2011 (spouse was killed)	Material (applicant left to take care of children alone) Psychological (death of a spouse)	The Gbagbo Defence submits that the applicant's identity document has expired, there is no death certificate or any other relevant document proving the harm resulting from the death of a relative, the information is vague and succinct, the narrative is confusing and not credible and the description of the perpetrators is unclear and insufficient. It further submits that there is no causal link between the events and harm described and the crimes confirmed against Mr. Gbagbo. The Blé Goudé Defence submits that there is no death certificate or any other relevant document proving the harm resulting from the death of a relative, the narrative is confusing and not credible and the description of the perpetrators is unclear and insufficient. It further submits that the personal harm is not sufficiently described.	Identification and other information of both direct and indirect victims, including on their relationship, are sufficient for prima facie analysis (copies of national and professional identity cards of both direct and indirect victims are provided). In addition, a declaration of two witnesses, with their identity cards attached, indicates that the direct victim was the indirect victim's spouse). The personal harm is sufficiently and coherently described, according to the prima facie standard (indirect victim/applciant reports that spouse was burned to death with oil because of his/her ethnicity; the applicant also reports to be alone with children to take care of). As to the causal link, the reported events were linked to the Yopougon incident on or around 25 and 28 February 2011, which is within the charges confirmed against Mr Blé Goudé and is part of the context of the confirmed charges against Mr Gbagbo. Thus, there is sufficient information to be satisfied, prima facie, that the applicant suffered harm as a result of the crimes included in the charges brought against the accused persons.
a/25222/15 Annex 226	A copy of a national identity card is provided.	Yes Victim is acting on own behalf	Persecution Yopougon : 25 February 2011(ethnicity = Koyaka) Other inhumane acts Yopougon : 25 February 2011(bodily harm)	Material (medical expenses) Psychological (trauma) Physical (injury)	The Gbagbo Defence submits that there is no proof of the harm, the information is vague and too succinct, the description of the perpetrators is unclear and insufficient and there is no causal link between the events and harm described and the crimes confirmed against Mr. Gbagbo. The Blé Goudé Defence submits that there is no proof of the harm and the description of the perpetrators is unclear and insufficient. It further submits that the personal harm is not sufficiently described.	The document provided sufficiently demonstrates the identity of the applicant (identity card). Thus, there is sufficient information to be satisfied, prima facie, that the applicant has suffered harm as a result of the crimes included in the charges brought against the accused person, namely the applicant suffered injuries when he/she was hit with stones, which led to medical expenses and trauma, as a result of the reported Yopougon incident on or around 25 and 28 February 2011, which is within the charges confirmed against Mr Blé Goudé and is part of the context of the confirmed charges against Mr Gbagbo. Thus, there is sufficient information to be satisfied, prima facie, that the applicant suffered harm as a result of the crimes included in the charges brought against the accused persons.

It further submits that the description of the perpetrators is unclear and insufficient. The Blé Goudé Defence submits that there is no death certificate or any other relevant document proving the death of the direct victim and the description of the perpetrators is unclear and insufficient. It further submits that the personal harm is not sufficiently described and the narrative is confusing and not credible.	Identification and other information of both direct and indirect victims, including on their relationship, are sufficient for prima facie analysis (the application contains: a copy of the national identity card of the indirect victim/applciant, a copy of the direct victim's certificate of identity and two birth certificates of the children of the direct and indirect victim), proving that they were spouses). The personal harm is sufficiently and coherently described, according to the prima facie standard (indirect victim/applciant reports that spouse was killed by a grenade; applicant now has to take care of children alone and has been psychologically affected by the situation). As to the causal link, the reported events were linked to the Yopougon incident on or around 25 and 28 February 2011, which is within the charges confirmed against Mr Blé Goudé and is part of the context of the confirmed charges against Mr Gbagbo. Thus, there is sufficient information to be satisfied, prima facie, that the applicant suffered harm as a result of the crimes included in the charges brought against the accused persons.

It further submits that there is no proof of the harm, the information is vague and too succinct, the personal harm is not sufficiently described, there is no causal link between the events and harm described and the crimes confirmed against Mr. Gbagbo and that the description of the perpetrators is unclear and insufficient. The Blé Goudé Defence submits that there is no proof of the harm, the personal harm is not sufficiently described and that the description of the perpetrators is unclear and insufficient.	The document provided sufficiently demonstrates the identity of the applicant (identity card). The personal harm is sufficiently and coherently described (the applicant suffered injuries when he/she was beaten and mugged, which led to medical expenses and trauma). As to the causal link, the reported events were linked to the Yopougon incident on or around 25 and 28 February 2011, which is within the charges confirmed against Mr Blé Goudé and is part of the context of the confirmed charges against Mr Gbagbo. Thus, there is sufficient information to be satisfied, prima facie , that the applicant suffered harm as a result of the crimes included in the charges brought against the accused persons.

The Blé Goudé Defence submits that there is no proof of the harm, the personal harm is not sufficiently described, the description of the perpetrators is unclear and insufficient and there is no causal link between the events and harm described and the crimes confirmed against Mr. Gbagbo.	The document provided sufficiently demonstrates the identity of the applicant (a copy of the applicant's national identity card). The personal harm is sufficiently and coherently described, according to the prima facie standard (victim reports being beaten by pro-Gbagbo militia and police; victim also reports having treated the injuries, having suffered from the events and still thinking about them). Moreover, there is no need to prove the harm or to indicate the perpetrator at this stage. Only a brief description of the harm and facts is required. As to the causal link, the reported events are linked to the Yopougon incident on or around 25 and 28 February 2011, which is within the charges confirmed against Mr Blé Goudé and is part of the context of the confirmed charges against Mr Gbagbo. Thus, there is sufficient information to be satisfied, prima facie , that the applicant suffered harm as a result of the crimes included in the charges brought against the accused persons.

Yopougon attack Around 12 April 2011. Annex 3	A copy of a national identity card is provided. A copy of a national identity card of the applicant's spouse is provided.	Yes Victim is acting on own behalf	Persecution Doukouré : 12 April 2011 (ethnicity = Senoufo) Murder Doukouré : 12 April 2011 (spouse was killed)	Psychological (death of a spouse) Material (loss of property, having to take care of children alone)	The Gbagbo Defence submits that there is no death certificate or any other relevant document proving the harm resulting from the death of a relative. There is no information on interpreters, albeit the victim indicates not to speak French, the information is vague and too succinct, the narrative is confusing and not credible and the description of the perpetrators is unclear and insufficient. The Blé Goudé Defence submits that there is no death certificate or any other relevant document proving the harm resulting from the death of a relative and that the description of the perpetrators is unclear and insufficient. It further submits that the applicant's identity document is missing, the personal harm is not sufficiently described and there is no causal link between the events and harm described and the crimes confirmed against Mr. Blé Goudé.	Identification and other information of both direct and indirect victims, including on their relationship, are sufficient for prima facie analysis (the application contains: copies of the national identity cards of both the indirect victim/applicant and the direct victim and a copy of one of their child's birth certificate proving that they were spouses). The personal harm is sufficiently and coherently described, according to the prima facie standard (the applicant's spouse was shot dead because of ethnicity; the applicant was left alone to take care of the children). As to the causal link, the reported events are linked to the Yopougon incident on or around 12 April 2011, which is within the charges confirmed against Mr Blé Goudé and is part of the context of the confirmed charges against Mr Gbagbo. Thus, there is sufficient information to be satisfied, prima facie, that the applicant suffered harm as a result of the crimes included in the charges brought against the accused persons.
a/10253/14 Annex 4	A copy of a national identity card is provided. A copy of a national identity card of the applicant's cousin is provided.	Yes Victim is acting on own behalf	Persecution Doukouré, Yopougon : 12 April 2011 (ethnicity = Houssa) Murder Doukouré, Yopougon : 12 April 2011 (cousin was killed)	Psychological (death of a relative).	The Gbagbo Defence submits that there is no death certificate or any other relevant document proving the harm resulting from the death of a relative, the information is vague and too succinct, the narrative is confusing and not credible, the harm suffered is not personal and the description of the perpetrators is unclear and insufficient. The Blé Goudé Defence submits that there is no death certificate or any other relevant document proving the harm resulting from the death of a relative, the harm suffered is not personal and the description of the perpetrators is unclear and insufficient. It further submits that it cannot ascertain to whom the identity document belongs to (direct or indirect victim), the applicant cannot apply on behalf of a deceased person, the personal harm is not sufficiently described and that there is no causal link between the events and harm described and the crimes confirmed against Mr. Blé Goudé.	Identification and other information of both direct and indirect victims, including on their relationship, are sufficient for prima facie analysis (the application contains: copies of the national identity cards of both the indirect victim/applicant and the direct victim and the declaration of two witnesses, accompanied by their national identity cards, indicating that the indirect victim/applicant was the legal guardian of the direct victim/the deceased). As to the Blé Goudé Defence's claim that the applicant cannot apply on behalf of a deceased person, this Chamber takes the view that an application concerning a deceased relative can be admitted as long as the applicant can prove a personal harm arising from the death of such relative, thereby qualifying as an indirect victim. The personal harm is sufficiently and coherently described, according to the prima facie standard (indirect victim/applicant reports that his/her cousin was killed by the pro-Gbagbo militia after being identified as a pro-Outerra supporter. As to the causal link, the reported Yopougon incident on or around 12 April 2011 is within the charges confirmed against both Mr Gbagbo and Mr Blé Goudé). Thus, there is sufficient information to be satisfied, prima facie, that the applicant suffered harm as a result of the crimes included in the charges brought against the accused persons.

The Blé Goudé Defence submits that there is no death certificate or any other relevant document proving the harm resulting from the death of a relative, the information is vague and too succinct and the description of the perpetrators is unclear and insufficient. It further submits that the applicant cannot apply on behalf of a deceased person.	Identification and other information of both direct and indirect victims, including on their relationship, are sufficient for prima facie analysis (the application contains: a copy of the indirect victim/applicant's birth certificate, a copy of the direct victim's national identity card and a copy of one of their child's birth certificates proving that they were spouses). As to the Blé Goudé Defence's claim that the applicant cannot apply on behalf of a deceased person, this Chamber takes the view that an application concerning a deceased relative can be admitted as long as the applicant can prove a personal harm arising from the death of such relative, thereby qualifying as an indirect victim. The personal harm is sufficiently and coherently described, according to the prima facie standard (indirect victim/applicant reports that spouse was killed by young forces of Gbagbo and Blé Goudé who were targeting Outerra supporters; applicant also reports that he/she had been left alone with the couples' children, that the direct victim provided for the applicant's family and that, as a result of his/her death, the applicant no longer has any material or moral support). As to the causal link, the reported events are linked to the Yopougon incident on or around 12 April 2011, which is within the charges confirmed against both Mr Gbagbo and Mr Blé Goudé. Thus, there is sufficient information to be satisfied, prima facie, that the applicant suffered harm as a result of the crimes included in the charges brought against the accused persons.

The Blé Goudé Defence submits that there is no death certificate or any other relevant document proving the harm resulting from the death of a relative. It further submits that the description of the perpetrators is unclear and insufficient.	Identification and other information of both direct and indirect victims, including on their relationship, are sufficient for prima facie analysis (the application contains: a copy of the indirect victim/applciant's national identity card and a declaration of two witnesses, accompanied by their national identity card and certificate of identity, indicating that the applicant was the sibling of the deceased direct victim). The personal harm is sufficiently and coherently described, according to the prima facie standard (indirect victim/applciant reports that sibling was killed by pro- Gbagbo and Blé Goudé militia and mercenaries; applicant also reports that he/she was traumatised by the events and their consequences). As the Gbagbo Defence have noted, there is a minor inconsistency between the dates of events indicated in the two application forms submitted by the indirect victim (one indicates 11 April 2011 and the other 12 April 2012). Considering the prima facie standard and the minor nature of the inconsistency, it is not sufficient to invalidate the application. As to the causal link, the reported Yopougon incident on or around 12 April 2011 is within the charges confirmed against both Mr Gbagbo and Mr Blé Goudé. Thus, there is sufficient information to be satisfied, prima facie , that the applicant suffered harm as a result of the crimes included in the charges brought against the accused persons.

The Blé Goudé Defence submits that there is no death certificate or any other relevant document proving the harm resulting from the death of a relative, the narrative is confusing and not credible and the description of the perpetrators is unclear and insufficient. It further submits that the applicant's date of birth is not indicated and that there is no causal link between the events and harm described and the crimes confirmed against Mr. Blé Goudé.	Identification and other information of both direct and indirect victims, including on their relationship, are sufficient for prima facie analysis (the application contains: a copy of the indirect victim/applciant's consular identity card and the birth certificates of the applicant's children, which are the deceased direct victims). The personal harm is sufficiently and coherently described, according to the prima facie standard (indirect victim/applciant reports that applicant's children disappeared after being taken. The applicant depended on the children as they were the economic providers.; the applicant also reports that he/she cannot maintain himself/herself as before. As to the causal link, the reported Yopougon incident on or around 12 April 2011 is within the charges confirmed against both Mr Gbagbo and Mr Blé Goudé. Thus, there is sufficient information to be satisfied, prima facie , that the applicant suffered harm as a result of the crimes included in the charges brought against the accused persons.

The Blé Goudé Defence submits that there is no death certificate or any other relevant document proving the harm resulting from the death of a relative. It further submits that the personal harm is not sufficiently described, the description of the perpetrators is unclear and insufficient, the applicant's date of birth is not indicated, the narrative is confusing and not credible and there is no causal link between the events and harm described and the crimes confirmed against Mr. Blé Goudé.	Identification and other information of both direct and indirect victims, including on their relationship, are sufficient for prima facie analysis (the application contains: a copy of the indirect victim/applciant's consular identity card and the birth certificates of the applicant's three children, who are the deceased direct victims). The personal harm is sufficiently and coherently described, according to the prima facie standard (indirect victim/applciant reports that his/her children disappeared; applicant also reports that his/her deceased children were his/her economic providers and caretakers). As to the causal link, the reported Yopougon incident on or around 12 April 2011 is within the charges confirmed against both Mr Gbagbo and Mr Blé Goudé. The Blé Goudé Defence submits that there is no death certificate or any other relevant document proving the harm resulting from the death of a relative and the description of the perpetrators is unclear and insufficient. It further submits that there is no proof of kinship between direct and indirect victim, the personal harm is not sufficiently described and there is no causal link between the events and harm described and the crimes confirmed against Mr. Blé Goudé.	Identification and other information of both direct and indirect victims, including on their relationship, are sufficient for prima facie analysis (the application contains: a copy of the indirect victim/applciant's certificate of identity and the birth certificate of one of the children of the applicant and the direct victim, which sufficiently proves their relationship as spouses and the identity of the deceased direct victim). The personal harm is sufficiently and coherently described, according to the prima facie standard (indirect victim/applciant reports that applicant's spouse was beaten and killed in front of the applicant; he/she also reports having suffered psychological and economic harm as a result of the direct victim's death, since the direct victim was the family's provider and the applicant was left alone with the children; As to the causal link, the reported Yopougon incident on or around 12 April 2011 is within the charges confirmed against both Mr Gbagbo and Mr Blé Goudé's. Thus, there is sufficient information to be satisfied, prima facie , that the applicant suffered harm as a result of the crimes included in the charges brought against the accused persons.

The Blé Goudé Defence submits that there is no proof of the harm, the perpetrators are not sufficiently identified and the personal harm is not sufficiently described.	The document provided sufficiently demonstrates the identity of the applicant (identity card). The personal harm is sufficiently and coherently described, according to the prima facie standard (the applicant was hit with a rifle; the applicant also reports to have undergone treatment and to be traumatised and still in pain). As to the causal link, the reported Yopougon incident on or around 12 April 2011 is within the charges confirmed against both Mr Gbagbo and Mr Blé Goudé. Thus, there is sufficient information to be satisfied, prima facie, that the applicant suffered harm as a result of the crimes included in the charges brought against the accused persons.

a/25203/15 Annex 207	A copy of applicant's national identity card is provided.	Yes Victim is acting on own behalf	Persecution Doukouré, 16e arrondissement : 12 April 2011 Yopougon : 25 February 2011 (ethnicity = Mahouka) Other inhumane acts Doukouré, 16e arrondissement : 12 April 2011 Yopougon : 25 February 2011 (bodily harm)	Psychological (trauma) Physical (injury)	The Gbagbo Defence submits that there is no proof of the harm, the information is vague and too succinct and there is no causal link between the events and harm described and the crimes confirmed against Mr. Gbagbo. The Blé Goudé Defence submits that there is no proof of the harm. It further submits that the personal harm is not sufficiently described and the description of the perpetrators is unclear and insufficient.	The document provided sufficiently demonstrates the identity of the applicant (identity card). The personal harm is sufficiently and coherently described, according to the prima facie standard (namely the applicant was beaten up and is still traumatised; the applicant also reports having property stolen). As to the causal link, the reported Yopougon incident on or around 12 April 2011 is within the charges confirmed against both Mr. Gbagbo and Mr. Blé Goudé. Thus, there is sufficient information to be satisfied, prima facie, that the applicant suffered harm as a result of the crimes included in the charges brought against the accused persons.

Yes Victim is acting on own behalf	Persecution Yopougon : 12 April 2011 (ethnicity = Bahoulé) Other inhumane acts Yopougon : 12 April 2011 (bodily harm)	Material (loss of property and medical expenses) Psychological (trauma) Physical (injury)	The Gbagbo Defence submits that there is an inconsistency between the date of birth in the application and the one contained in the applicant's identity document presented. It further submits that there is no proof of the harm and that the description of the perpetrators is unclear and insufficient. The Blé Goudé Defence submits that there is no proof of the harm and the description of the perpetrators is unclear and insufficient. It further submits that the harm was not sufficiently described.	The document provided sufficiently demonstrates the identity of the applicant (identity card). The personal harm is sufficiently and coherently described, according to the prima facie standard (the applicant's property was invaded and pillaged, the applicant was beaten up and is still traumatised. The applicant reports having incurred medical expenses). As to the causal link, the reported Yopougon incident on or around 12 April 2011 is within the charges confirmed against both Mr. Gbagbo and Mr. Blé Goudé. Thus, there is sufficient information to be satisfied, prima facie, that the applicant suffered harm as a result of the crimes included in the charges brought against the accused persons.

It further submits that the information is vague and too succinct, the narrative is confusing and not credible and the description of the perpetrators is unclear and insufficient. The Blé Goudé Defence submits that there is no death certificate or any other relevant document proving the harm resulting from the death of a relative, the narrative is confusing and not credible and the description of the perpetrators is unclear and insufficient. It further submits that the harm was not sufficiently described.	Identification and other information of both direct and indirect victims, including on their relationship, are sufficient for prima facie analysis (the application contains: copies of national identity cards of both the direct and indirect victim, which also prove that the direct victim was the applicant's sibling). The personal harm is sufficiently and coherently described, according to the prima facie standard (indirect victim/applicant reports that his/her sibling was arrested. As to the causal link, the reported Yopougon incident on or around 12 April 2011 is within the charges confirmed against both Mr. Gbagbo and Mr. Blé Goudé. Thus, there is sufficient information to be satisfied, prima facie, that the applicant suffered harm as a result of the crimes included in the charges brought against the accused persons.

a/25210/15 Annex 214	A copy of a national identity card is provided. A death certificate of the applicant's spouse is provided.	Yes Victim is acting on own behalf	Persecution Yopougon : 11 April 2011 (ethnicity = Malinké) Murder Yopougon : 11 April 2011 (spouse was killed)	Psychological (death of a spouse) Material (deceased spouse was applicant's provider)	The Gbagbo Defence submits that there is an inconsistency between the date of the death on the application form and the one contained in the death certificate. It further submits that the identity documents of the witnesses proving kinship are too old, the information is vague and too succinct the narrative is confusing and not credible and the description of the perpetrators is unclear and insufficient. The Blé Goudé Defence submits that the narrative is confusing and not credible and the description of the perpetrators is unclear and insufficient. It further submits that there is no proof of the harm and the personal harm is not sufficiently described.	Identification and other information of both the direct and the indirect victim, including on their relationship, are sufficient for prima facie analysis (the application contains: a copy of the direct victim's national identity card, a copy of the indirect victim/applicant's death certificate and a declaration of two witnesses, accompanied by their respective national identity card and certificate of identity, indicating that the direct victim was the applicant's spouse). The personal harm is sufficiently and coherently described, according to the prima facie standard (indirect victim/applicant reports that his/her spouse was arrested, beaten, killed and burned by Gbagbo's militia, because he/she was considered a Ouattara supporter; applicant also reports that, as a result of his/her spouse's death, applicant suffered psychological and economic harm as the direct victim provided for the applicant's family). Even though the victim's death certificate is provided, there is no need to prove the harm with this or any other document or to indicate the perpetrator at this stage. Only a brief description of the harm and facts is required. As the Gbagbo Defence has noted, there is indeed an inconsistency between the date of death on the application form and the one contained in the death certificate provided (while the date of death is reported as being 11 April 2011, the death certificate indicates the 19 February 2011). Nonetheless, rather than invalidating the indirect victim's application, this inconsistency is an indication that the facts and the harm reported by the applicant are most likely linked to the Yopougon incidents that took place at the end of February 2011, as the date contained in the certificate roughly matches these events. In any event, considering the prima facie nature of the present assessment and the unique circumstances of post-conflict violence in Côte d'Ivoire, it is possible that the date contained in the death certificate was entered by mistake and indeed corresponded to 11 April 2011, as the applicant reports. As to the causal link, the facts and harm reported by the applicant are prima facie linked to the Yopougon incident on or around 25 and 28 February 2011, which is within the charges confirmed against Mr Blé Goudé and is part of the context of the confirmed charges against Mr Gbagbo (see, Joinder Decision, para. 54). As mentioned earlier, in light of the date of death indicated on the form, it is also possible that the facts and harm reported are linked to the Yopougon incident on or around 12 April 2011, which is within the charges confirmed against both Mr Gbagbo and Mr Blé Goudé. Thus, there is sufficient information to be satisfied, prima facie, that the applicant suffered harm as a result of the crimes included in the charges brought against the accused persons.
a/25216/15 Annex 220	A copy of a birth certificate is provided.	Yes Victim is acting on own behalf	Persecution Yopougon : 12 April 2011 (ethnicity = Mahoulka) Other inhumane acts Yopougon : 12 April 2011 (bodily harm)	Psychological (trauma) Physical (injury) Material (inability to work)	The Gbagbo Defence submits that there is no proof of the harm, the information is vague and too succinct, the personal harm is not sufficiently described and the description of the perpetrators is unclear and insufficient. The Blé Goudé Defence submits that there is no proof of the harm, the personal harm is not sufficiently described and the description of the perpetrators is unclear and insufficient. It further submits that the applicant's identity document (extract from applicant's registration of birth) is inappropriate.	The document provided sufficiently demonstrates the identity of the applicant (birth certificate). The personal harm is sufficiently and coherently described, according to the prima facie standard (the applicant was shot and still has pain; the applicant also reports an inability to work and trauma). As to the causal link, the reported Yopougon incident on or around 12 April 2011 is within the charges confirmed against both Mr Gbagbo and Mr Blé Goudé. Thus, there is sufficient information to be satisfied, prima facie, that the applicant suffered harm as a result of the crimes included in the charges brought against the accused persons.
a/25223/15 Annex 227	A copy of a national identity card is provided. A copy of a national identity card of the applicant's mother is provided.	Yes Victim is acting on own behalf	Persecution Yopougon : 12 April 2011 (ethnicity = Malinké) Murder Yopougon : 12 April 2011 (parent was killed)	Psychological (death of a parent)	The Gbagbo Defence submits that the applicant's identity document has expired, there is no death certificate or any other relevant document proving the harm resulting from the death of a relative, the information is vague and too succinct, the narrative is confusing and not credible and the description of the perpetrators is unclear and insufficient. The Blé Goudé Defence submits that there is no death certificate or any other relevant document proving the harm resulting from the death of a relative, the narrative is confusing and not credible and the description of the perpetrators is unclear and insufficient. It further submits that the personal harm is not sufficiently described.	Identification and other information of both direct and indirect victims, including on their relationship, are sufficient for prima facie analysis (the application contains: copies of both victim's national identity cards, which demonstrate that the direct victim was the applicant's parent). The personal harm is sufficiently and coherently described, according to the prima facie standard (the applicant reports that applicant's parent disappeared after 12 April 2011 and the applicant found out that the said parent was beaten to death and burned by the young forces of Gbagbo and Blé Goudé; applicant also reports still feeling angry about the events). As to the causal link, the reported Yopougon incident on or around 12 April 2011 is within the charges confirmed against both Mr Gbagbo and Mr Blé Goudé. Thus, there is sufficient information to be satisfied, prima facie, that the applicant suffered harm as a result of the crimes included in the charges brought against the accused persons.
